THREE CIVIC DEPARTMENTS SHOW DEFICITS FOR YEAR

Utilities Dependent Upon Power House Forced to Return Small Deficits Owing to High Cost Power House Operation.

OPERATING EXPENSES AT THE POWER HOUSE DOUBLE LAST YEAR

Splendid Surplus Is Show in General—Expenditures $30,500, $44 Less than the Amount Estimated.

For several weeks past the department of City Auditor Richardson has been busy day and night in preparing the annual financial report of the city for the year ending October 31st of October last. It was ready by three o'clock today for submission at a meeting of the members of the council which convened at that hour.

The report is very gratifying in that it shows a surplus of $10,000 in the General Fund, the amount spent in which was $43,082 compared with an estimated expenditure of $42,500.

The other departments are not so good, the three dependent on the power house, viz: the street railway, the electric light and power, and the telephone department. In the telephone department alone there is a surplus.

High Cost of Operation.

The deficits are explainable to some extent at least, by the conditions at the power house during the year. The figures show that while about 70 per cent of the operating expenses at the power house for 1908 were $16,000, the same for 1909 were $31,627.00. The question arises as to whether the difference of over $15,000 is not due in some measure to the increased cost of operation at the power house being too great.

The first question is to be investigated at the beginning of the year by an engineering expert to be secured by the city. This will go far to explain the high cost of power house operation and ascertain whether the production of power is being carried on at a loss. If such is the case a remedy will be sought.

The difference of $11,720 between the first and last year's operation would more than wipe off all the deficits on the city's books.

Follow is a brief resume of the annual financial report:

CASE FOR WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS

Argument Submitted to Railway Commission by Counsel for W.A.P., Showing Discrimination in Telegraphic Toll Rates Against Non-Users of C.P.R. News Service--Argument in Detail.

The Western Associated Press, through its solicitor, A. B. Hudson, has submitted to the Board of Railways a detailed argument in support of the application which it made at the recent sitting of the Board for a reduction of the rate of an order relating it of the discrimination from which it and other users of the Canadian Pacific Railway company's telegraphs, benefit by reason of the policies and regulations of the Canadian Pacific Railway company's telegraphs, the argument in detail.

The applicant claims that matter transmitted to it by the company for publication should be transmitted at the same rate as that charged by an individual newspaper, in place of the higher rates actually charged, because:

(a) The cost of transmission is the same.

(b) The press rate is remunerative. This is shown (1) by the fact that it has been established and voluntarily granted by the Canadian Pacific Railway without any objection; (2) for that, because the statement submitted by the company does not even begin to question that the press rate is present established provides for very little.

The cost of transmission from Montreal to Winnipeg, as shown in the statement of the cost of their service in western Canada, the Canadian Pacific Railway would be Operator's wages, Montreal, as follows:

Annual rent of wire, Montreal	$3,696.00
Annual rent of wire, Winnipeg	15,102.96
	$19,698.96

This charge is made for the entire transmission of 15,000 words per twenty-four hours. Charging to this quantity at the proportion of 7,699 words to 6,000 words per day, the company would collect at the ordinary press rate of $22,000, charging a profit of $4,000 over and above a minimum annual profit of over 60 per cent.

In this calculation it will be noted that the company's figures are accepted, although close scrutiny would doubt them subject to a very large deduction.

(c) It is in the public interest that the press rate should be maintained, because it is in the interest of a much greater interchange of Canadian news.

(d) The evidence disclosed clear discrimination. In answer to this evidence, it was urged:

(a) That the evidence was self-servive that was not of the same character as that sold by the Western Associated Press of the world for publication in newspapers should not be classified differently, or as being of a different source, or is edited in a different way.

(b) It was urged that the railway company had a vested right—that it was entitled to do something it never had any right to do.

(c) It was urged that it would prejudicially affect the eastern newspapers. It is admitted that the eastern papers are not now in the market, but the present application.

Rates.

The telegraphic company contend that their regular rates are those which apply to commercial messages and news, and that the specific rate for news matter addressed to newspaper is a voluntary contribution on the part of the telegraph companies to all of the telegraph companies to carry news matter intended for immediate publication in newspapers, and some definite rate. News matter can be clearly defined by an exact class, and the specific rate, as shown in circulars submitted at the hearing.

In this case as presented to the board on this application, the existing rates were not a subject of controversy, but the application by the Canadian Pacific Railway company, which is illustrated by the calculations as the cost of carrying press matter from Montreal to Winnipeg.

We, therefore, submit that the matter addressed to the Western Associated Press, and to the newspaper tested in character with matter transmitted daily to newspapers under similar conditions, should be charged for publication in a newspaper, should be carried at the same rate.

The gratuity of the public, and the rate as shown is profitable.

Mr. Channing, in his evidence, took the position that, if a press rate were given to a private user, it would reduce the quantity of news transmitted by the company and thus reduce the company's revenue. This argument, however, is based on the theory that the railway company is transmitting news at a profit, just as it does.

Mr. Channing also inferred that there would, under these circumstances, be a reduction of business, unless the rate of news transmitted by the telephone company would be increased rather than decreased. The cost of news to the Western Associated Press, as stated, has not lessened the total amount which the Winnipeg newspapers have paid to the various telegraph companies—but, on the contrary, has increased it. The effect of the cooperative arrangement has been to increase the tolls by increasing traffic, and the applicant contend that, in order to meet the demand, as requested in the application, would include a still larger amount to expand on the geographic basis.

It is evident that the loss to the company as stated is inaccurate inasmuch as the maximum charge for news transmitted to the three Winnipeg newspapers would mean three times the time expended as that involved in the transmission of news by the Western Associated Press.

The company attempted to justify its charge by reference to the charges levied by various telegraph companies in the United States. It is admitted that the cases are entirely different, and that the two countries are not the same. The press associations of the United States, however, have a close association with the telegraph companies in the collection and distribution of news, and merely carries of news. If the press associations there were obliged to compete with the telegraph companies in the same manner, it would be difficult to imagine how it would be possible for the company to charge a flat rate for bulk news, even assuming that the association of the flat rate for bulk news, as proposed by the Western Associated Press, would not be another reason why the company could not handle its own business on this basis. In this case, however, the flat rate imposed. Further, he gave a number of reasons why the company could not handle its own business on this basis. In the first place, the maximum service was carried to the end of the line at Vancouver or Victoria, and the company could not points where the newspaper took a smaller service, the operator at that point could not afford to fulfil the agreement as to the volume of daily service to be supplied at that point, as well as to the other independent provinces, who would consider privileges to the Western Associated Press, Mr. Camp said?

The applicant submits that to print the respondent's application to the Canadian Parliament, it is necessary to have a news service, and that the company described as news service, even assuming that the news service is supplied by the newspaper, which has not been established. There is the additional important fact that the United States are able to rely on their subscribers every dollar which they receive, while the Western Associated Press is unable to leay on to subscribers outside of the Canadian market. The entire cost of bringing news to Winnipeg from our ports is met by the eastern and western newspapers in Winnipeg.

No one in which press association, he said, has ever been able to print news except the respondent, except in this quantity, than that charged by the Western Associated Press for the transmission of news matter.

He also urged for this reduced rate being valuable privilege, which no one has been able to establish.

(e) It is in the public interest that the press rate should be maintained, because it is in the interest of a much greater interchange of Canadian news.

(f) The evidence disclosed clear discrimination. In answer to this evidence, it was urged:

(a) That the evidence was self-servive that was not of the same character as that sold by the Western Associated Press of the world for publication in newspapers should not be classified differently, or as being of a different source, or is edited in a different way.
